Qualifications of Electors

Judge Watt has some present reputation and past experience as a lawyer that should entitle him to consideration. But we doubt very much if he would like to have some of his present opinions, as expressed in the Argus, remain as the criterion of his legal ability, and registered against him in the verdict that will surely be recorded.

According to Judge Watt, the man who left Missoury or Kansas, bound for Oregon, was a citizen of this State the moment he crossed the line with that intent. We propose to take first a common sense view of that position, and secondly to quote a few authorities that respectfully differ from the learned gentleman.

We will suppose our emigrant has crossed the border and is bound for Oregon, which moment according to the arguments of Judge Watt, he is a full blown Oregonian. But a change comes over the spirit of his dreams, several of his mules or oxen fall or die, his grub runs short, or his babies are sick, and so he halts around for a home, rather dissapointed and somewhat poorer perhaps, but he "fails to convince" on the Oregon question. Missouri opens her arms to receive him, claims him for her own, and allows him to vote as she always had before. Suppose instead of this he all the emigrant goes on, and forgetting that Oregon is his best love becomes enamored with the poly-game territory of Utah, and finds a domicil amid her mountains and valleys, or becomes enchanted with the gold and silver that attract so many to Idaho, Nevada or California.

We might pursue the subject much further might argue it more fully, but it must strike every one that the theory of constructive residence is fallacious, and if it is not fallacious Judge Watt should be required to make this theory of his work practically; and this would at least compel him to start with each emigration and use his persuasive eloquence to compel the emigrants to perform their duties to our State. And we imagine in the attempt in his most effective style, "I know you are a coming, why don't you come along?" Leaving him in this position, we will proceed to quote a few authorities.

The Supreme Court of New York, in Crawford vs Wilson (4 Barbour S. C. Rep. 522) say after a lengthy reference to the authorities: "From the various definitions of the terms residence, inhabitancy and domicil and the decisions in regard to them, I think we can deduce the propositions that the terms legal residence or inhabitancy and domicil mean the same thing. By legal residence I mean the place of a man's fixed habitation, where his political rights, such is the right of the elective franchise, are to be exercised, and where he is liable to taxation."

Says Judge Story: "Two things, then must concur to constitute domicil, first residence, secondly, the intention of making it the home of the party. There must be the fact, and the intent; for as Potter has truly observed, a person cannot establish a domicil in a place except it be animo et facto. However in many cases actual residence is not indispensable to retain a domicil after it is once acquired, but it is retained animo solo; the mere intention not doing it or the adoption of another. It, therefore, a person leaves home for temporary purposes, but with an intention to return to it, this change of place is not in law a change of domicil. A domicil once acquired, remains until a new one is acquired."

Kent says: "The original domicil of the party always continues until he has fairly changed it for another, even though he has unconsciously forfeited it. There must be intention and act united to effect a change of domicil. A new domicil is not acquired by residence unless taken up with an intention of abandoning the former domicil." (Vol 2 Kent's Com., page 431, N. Y.)

The Supreme Court of Massachusetts says:

To prove a change of domicil it must be made to appear not only that the old domicil had been abandoned, but also that a new one has been acquired, so that a domicil, being once fixed, will continue notwithstanding the absence of the party, unless there is a substantive fact of residence in another place, if not accompanied with the intention of remaining there permanently, or at least for an indefinite time, will not produce a change of domicil. (Dunbar vs Hapgood, 10 Pick., 98.)

The Supreme Court of the State of New York lays down the same law. Also the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

The Court of Appeals of South Carolina, in the case of Bradly vs. Leary (1 Speer's Eq. Rep., 137) says:

Nor is there any doubt that a party's original domicil of power to determine a new one. From the necessity of the case the presumption of intention, although unintentionally and permanently forsaken, must still be regarded as domicil.

So in New Hampshire, the Court, quoting Story, says:

Two things must concur to constitute domicil, first residence, second, intention of making it the home of the party.

The Court of Appeals of Maryland says:

The mere retention of a property owned by a man without the fact of an actual residence thereon, neither does the fact of a residence without the intention.

And finally, Chief Justice Shaw lays down the doctrine:

We don't propose to be the reader with excessive comment on the foregoing. The enumerations. We only quote to prove to the necessity that citizens of the United States should be prevented from voting in counties of Oregon. The Democratic party pro-see the plan of some to elect the Legislature that will give the franchise. Will their votes be legal among them the probabilities are that too many of them are to fill the land while others of them have fought for the Union but them for their own rebellious acts. The Democratic party holds their advent as their only hope, and

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held in the Council Chamber at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. Mayor Failing was present and occupied the chair. Calling the members to order for the dispatch of business he stated that the meeting of the Council would now be controlled by the new charter and one of its provisions made it the duty of the Mayor to preside at the meetings of the Council. After a few preliminary remarks the Mayor proceeded with the business of the evening.

The following members answered to the roll call: Councilmen Cook, Failing, Graham, Frazier—Councilmen Cook, Failing, Graham, Frazier, Hoffman, and Starr.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Clerk and approved by the Council.

Petition of ——— for a continuance of time to enter to repair sewers at Manning's Exchange—granted.

Petitions of J. W. Cook, J. W. Cotting, H. Wagner and others, relative to dance houses, were referred to the committee on license and police.

The petition of ——— for a license to keep a saloon on Front street was referred to the committee on license and police.

The bill of C. H. Myers for [illegible] was referred to the committee on account and current expenses.

The bill of N. Norton, for $8, presented in favor of allowing the same, the warrants were drawn for the amount respectively.

Sundry charges incurred by Secretary of State and City, in transmitting a copy of the new city charter to Mayor Failing, amounting to $20, was ordered to be paid.

Several claims against the city were laid upon the table pending a proper understanding of matters relative to work under the new charter.

Mr. Starr offered a resolution authorizing the Street Commissioner to repair the Front street steps for the safety of community, which was adopted.

A petition, praying for the privilege of building a flight of steps on the public Plaza in some manner for the protection from loss.

Mr. Cook favored the old style system, stating the circumstances of the Plaza, and thought the gate should be removed.

Mr. Hergren said he would like to see cross-walks constructed at every corner first. A few months might be able to get at the beautifying questions, which was just now about impossible for small. He was in favor of the setting of posts at the corners.

Mr. Starr favored the hanging of a substantial hall or cast gate, supported by a six inch cedar post inside. It was necessary something should be done, before the gates, and a proposition authorizing the Street Commissioner to fix the gates accordingly, was finally agreed to, and adopted.

Mr. Starr offered a resolution authorizing the Clerk of the Council to have fifty copies of the new charter printed, including the rules of order, for the use of the Council, which was adopted, after much discussion.

The division of the rules of order were referred to a special committee of three.

Council Adjourned.

RATHER DULL.—Yesterday was unusually barren of things, or threads wherewith to weave a web, or even an eighth of a yard of local gossip. Serious doings are decidedly scarce. We did hear of an event "to transpire," which is sub rosa at present however, that will create a sensation one day the old bachelors, who are subject to the rights of woman in dissecting the year. But that we are to use forty-day. We must turn our attention elsewhere for the subject. The streets presented the usual lively appearance of yesterday, nothing unusual for a summer day. There was a little more mud than common, owing to the last rain. The paving is good, but is expected to find bottom in some places before spring comes again. But we did not intend to allude to that subject, yet there is a sort of fatality connected with the matter that naturally runs us into it. This may be owing to the pressure we have of trotting over slippery, rotten planks, through immense mud holes, pretty much the same as this winter as last, excepting the two blocks of pave, on Front street.

OUR HOTELS JAMMED.—Ere the last we heard of our facetious "reporter" he arrived in town about 7 o'clock in the stage, and was successively seen at the Webfoot, New Columbian, Western, Pioneer and all the crack hotels down to Arrigoni's (down town to Arrigoni's we mean,) in search of supper and a bed, which last was nigh to be had for money, and his actual last appearance, for one night only, was somewhere back of the Exchange, and it is supposed he had chartered a boy and a lantern, and gone for the nearest farm house over the mountains. It is an actual fact that our hotels are crowded with passengers waiting for the steamer to arrive, and with steamer arrivals, that beds are now at a premium, so is also our estimable reporter.

[illegible]—Our reporter has arrived, somewhat travel stained and a little cross, but he thinks Portland a good place, and we have engaged him a bed for to-night.

PACKET FOR CORVALLIS.—Some eight or ten vessels are said to be waiting at Aquia Bay a few days, for a schooner to arrive from San Francisco with goods for Corvallis. Several small vessels are engaged in this trade this fall and quite a number of teams. The distance from Aquina Bay to Corvallis is forty-five miles, and the road is not excellent. When a railroad is completed from Portland to Corvallis, our friends there will have a much more expeditious and reliable, and also economical, a means of transit right to their doors.

PASSENGERS FOR THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The ship Cambridge, which will leave for Honolulu some time next week, will carry away several passengers, among them a number of our citizens, who go out for business, pleasure, or a restoration of health. Among them we expect to secure a reliable correspondent who will post the citizens of Oregon on what is most needed in the building up of this important trade.

WASHINGTON DEMOCRAT.—We have received the first number of the Washington Democrat, published at Olympia, W. T. So far as appearance goes, the sheet looks well enough, but our good impression is modified, in a degree, when we find it is afflicted with "nigger on the brain." We would like to wish it more success than we are willing to bestow it will receive; but if the people of Olympia must have a democratic journal, no doubt our friends Hicks & Cavanaugh will do as well by them as they deserve.

MRS. DEMOREST'S MIRROR OF FASHIONS.—The publishers have forwarded us the above work. It is printed monthly in New York, and which is especially interesting to the ladies, as it contains fashion plates, patterns, etc., which are selected from the latest designs of the season. Those wishing to subscribe for it, and not wishing to await the tragel by mail, can leave their orders with Mr. McCormick of the Franklin Book Store.

SECOND SCRAPE.—A little affray occurred in front of the Identical saloon on Stark street yesterday afternoon, which terminated in a shooting scrape. One ball was fired which did no damage, and the belligerent threatened to shoot again the fellow fell back. We did not learn the names of the parties, who were arrested and locked up by Officer Stitzel.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—During the session of the Legislative Assembly quite a number of communications have been received, that were necessarily crowded out by our legislative reports. Many of these are now out of date, and they will be laid over for new matter from necessity or few reports will recognize the necessity of paying in fact for papers.

CIRCUIT COURTS.—The Jury lists for the November term of the County Court, and the Circuit Court are now made out. The former will convene on the 7th and the latter on the 14th proximo. The U. S. District Court, Judge M. P. Deady, will meet on the 7th of November, the first Monday in the month.

THE OPENING PARTY.—The Turn Verein Society of this city opened their new and spacious Hall last evening with an elegant party. The time was one of joyous festivity, and lasted till the wee hours of the morning. It was a most happy re-union.

Hebrew Benevolent Society.—A Adjourned meeting of the TURN VEREIN HALL on Sunday, October 30th, at 1 o'clock P. M. A full attendance is requested as business of importance will be transacted.

JULIUS RAEMER, Rec. Sec'y.

Proclamation.

[illegible]

Attest: SAMUEL E. MAY, Secretary.

[illegible]

To the County Officers!

Other States have filled with commendable promptitude every call that has been made upon them. The people have a very natural repugnance to a draft, under which every drafted man must serve or furnish a substitute. Under these circumstances it is difficult to make a draft where necessary men have not volunteered, and to avoid such a draft. The men are needed in the field, and every consideration of economy and personal pride requires that each county promptly and fully meet its quota of men. The officers of the State feel confident that the citizens of this county, through you will use their influence and legal and natural representatives. As guardians of their rights and of their honor, it is incumbent upon you to see that no fair ground for complaint shall exist against the county in the matter of filling her quota. You should [illegible] that no unnecessary delay occurs in the process of your duties. If necessary call meetings in your school districts and bring the matter home to every inhabitant. Funds will be needed to pay expenses, and provision for the same has been made. Blanks will be furnished for the purpose. Let the people of every county [illegible] the architects of the county, their fellow citizens, upon whom the responsibility is now resting, and nobly [illegible] to this call upon you with unparalleled promptness and energy. Let the State [illegible] with unparalleled promptness and energy. Let the State [illegible] with unparalleled promptness and energy. Let the State [illegible]

TOO MANY WOMEN.—The Boston Advertiser has a singular statistical article showing that Massachusetts has ordinarily had more than her share of women, and that now, through the withdrawal of men into the army, there must be at least one hundred thousand more women than men! This remarkable surplus is treated as not only a moral but a political evil, and the writer says:

To speak directly of the first and chief source of these difficulties is to repeat the figures presented in the census. At this moment there are in Massachusetts nearly one hundred thousand more women than there are men. In 1850 the excess of the number of women of all ages over that of men was 35,000. Since the time of the war and the steady surplus of the emigration of males must be taken from the sixty or seventy thousand more boys—children, it must be observed, of the marriageable ages—leaving a surplus here of one hundred thousand women. Between the ages of 15 and 45 the population of women in Massachusetts is about 242,000. The population of men of the same ages does not probably exceed 242,000 at the present time. This enlarged proportion, greater than we remember to have observed in the statistics of any other country, may be ascribed to a considerable extent to the war. But we should mistake greatly if we should consider the war as its only cause. Before the war existed, in 1850, the excess of women in all ages was, as we have said, 35,370. Counting only the population between the ages of 15 and 50, the excess of women within these limits was 27,000—a surplus much too large to be overlooked in a careful study of the ills of the community. The causes are evident. Young men emigrate freely and largely. They emigrate in much greater proportion than women do.

The emigration from Massachusetts is much larger than the immigration into it. The consequence is that a large proportion of unmarried women are left by the tide of emigration within our borders. We conceive that the correction of this evil is to be found in the encouragement, by all proper means, of the emigration of women from Massachusetts into the regions where they are needed, and of the systematic emigration of men from Europe into our State. Selfish considerations of a temporary lack in the supply of workmen ought not to retard a movement in the way of the rectifying gross disproportion, which, if necessity, seriously endangers the morals of the community, and the very foundations of civil society. It must be remembered that the Western States, particularly those of the Pacific, are suffering under the counter difficulty. The census of Oregon shows a surplus of thirty thousand men to match our surplus of women. The worthy letters before us as we write state that the price of laboring women in Oregon is paid a dollar a day in gold, with board besides. The grazing districts of that State are not fully developed for want of women to make butter; the schools are not fully taught for want of women to teach; the men are compelled to do housework for want of women to wash and sew. Speaking for ultra deliberate souls, that the people of Oregon must not say that they want wives for their men and mothers for their future, they must say that they need women for every purpose. Their best men make the most impressive appeals, therefore, for an organized emigration of women. We understand some steps have been taken in New England looking toward such an organization. Quite independent of it, we do not hesitate to say that any woman who has her living to earn and is willing to earn it, will do vastly better by investing $200 in a passage to Portland in Oregon.

AS A TONIC,

its operations are evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increase of nutriment to the body is the result of their assignment of business. The patient recovers flesh, strength and vital activity quickly, relaxed and feeble he becomes full, strong and healthy.

Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the precursor to serious illness. Some bile of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, and abstain from the diet ordered at once—purify the blood, and let the fluid have an unobstructed health again.

AS A TONIC PURIFIC,

it has no equal. Every chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses virtues which restore the patient to health during a stay in the hospital, and survivors of thirty years' standing, pronounce the cures of Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla and Iodine Alterative, the greatest blessing ever conferred upon suffering humanity.

Sold by Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

OYSTERS! OYSTERS!

Louis McMurray & Co., Baltimore.

THE ATTENTION OF THE TRADE IS PARTICULARly requested to the above as the brand of oysters Messrs. McMurray & Co. claim to be the only firm that adheres to the plan of selecting the Oyster in its raw state, by hand, thus preserving intact its delicate odor and flavor. The superiority of this method over the one in general use of steaming the Oyster open, whereby the natural liquor is lost and a tasteless and unwholesome substitute, insipid and repulsive to the palate, is substituted, is apparent and needs no comments. Orders for all who have given this brand a trial. The subscribers are now receiving from the above firm a fresh supply of shipments from New York which they offer to the trade on favorable terms.

PERUVIAN SYRUP

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has Been Used With Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

And Diseases of the Liver, Stomach, Nervous System, and Other Consumptive Tendencies, Such as Loss of Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Debility, Want of Appetite, Loss of Sleep, or Nervousness.

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all those who require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so authentic, and of such a character, that the proprietor feels himself compelled to receive the preference of the afflicted.

The use of Peruvian Syrup provides a cure for a thousand diseases, from which mankind suffer, in consequence of impoverished blood, and the vitality and energy of the system can be restored only by the use of a powerful blood purifier, such as the Peruvian Syrup.

From well known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned, citizens of Boston, have used the Peruvian Syrup, and consider it a duty they owe to suffering humanity to recommend it

JOHN HICKS, THOMAS C. AMORY,
THOMAS J. DENNIS, PETER HARTLEY,
LAWRENCE KEYES, JAMES C. DUNN,
SAMUEL MAY, CHARLES S. WHITTEMORE.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

This is to certify that I have analyzed a sample of Peruvian Syrup, prepared by Henry R. Stedman, Chemist, of Boston, and find that it contains Protoxide of Iron, without further combination, in the form of a perfect solution. In this condition the Protoxide of Iron is readily assimilated with the blood, and thus the most scientific and practical method of administering this important remedy is attained. Peruvian Syrup is a protoxide of Iron, and this solution is perfected by the use of pure water, without the employment of any acid, alkali, sugar, spirit, or astringent whatever. The Protoxide of Iron, when taken into the stomach, immediately enters into the circulation, and by its tonic effect upon the blood, gives vigor to the nervous system, and thus restores the patient to health. It is the only form of Iron that can be taken into the system without producing injurious effects upon the teeth, bowels or system.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT BISTORATIVE of the day, and it is impossible to overestimate its value in medical practice. Iodine has been recognized as the most essential article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical physicians of the country have recognized its effects upon the human system.

It acts upon the

LIVER, HEART, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and is to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the real and unreality which have been devulged in public papers, and the unmitigated humbug, many of Dr. Keyes' Agents have been using, and most useless, such of the agents of Iodine and preparations of Iodine, discovered a chemical process whereby Iodine is rendered perfectly soluble in water, and is now published in the Pharmacopœia, and is recommended to practitioners by the American Medical Society, July 6, 1856.

This valuable discovery is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula, and all diseases arising from impure blood, Cancers, Tumors, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is to strengthen the digestive organs, thereby increasing the appetite, and the nourishment derived from the food. The whole body is the result of this change, and the patient recovers flesh, strength and color; the feeble pained and feeble, he becomes full, strong and healthy.
